

METHODS AND KIT FOR TREATING PARKINSON'S DISEASE

Abstract of the Invention

- 5 The efficacy of levodopa therapy in patients being treated for Parkinson's disease is enhanced by administering high doses of a partial glycine agonist. The frequency and severity of levodopa-induced side effects in Parkinson's disease patients are also reduced by administration of a partial glycine agonist.